General
Trellis, Unite and WireWorks Systems contain data raceways with standard factory-cut openings, with bezels installed. The bezels contain filler plates which are removable and may be replaced with any number of customer/electrician supplied data faceplates, outlets and ports. While KI supplies the customer specified 10-wire power components, it is up to the electrician to provide for the customer's required data wiring and related components.

Bezel & Filler Plates

Bezels and filler plates are molded in nylon and are available in a variety of colors. The manufacturer's plates fit into the standard Unite, WireWorks and Trellis bezel openings and broaden the offering of communications connectors.

Raceway Data Access

Power and data bezels come pre-assembled with removable filler plates installed in the bezel openings. The power & data bezel supports access to data cables in two ways. The bezel opening is covered with a filler plate, which can be kept in to allow cables to pass through, or the plate can be snapped out to allow termination at a data connector in a modular face plate. Modular data plates are supplied by most major data connector manufacturers and are designed to snap into the opening in the power & data bezel. KI does not provide the modular face plates or data jacks.
