DESIGNER

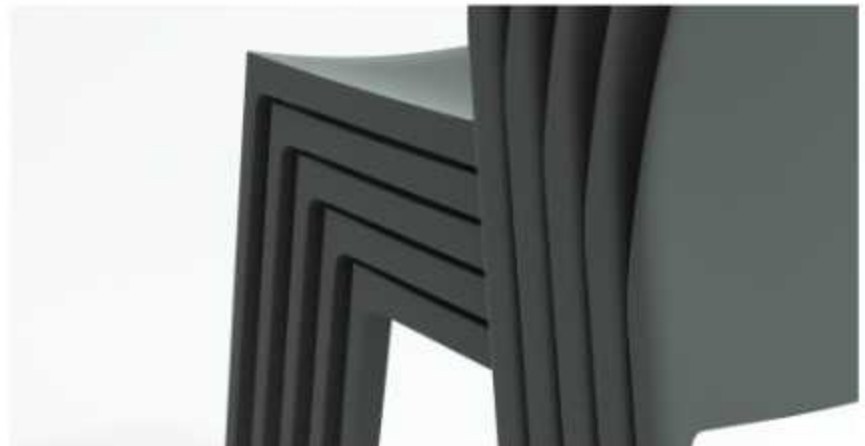

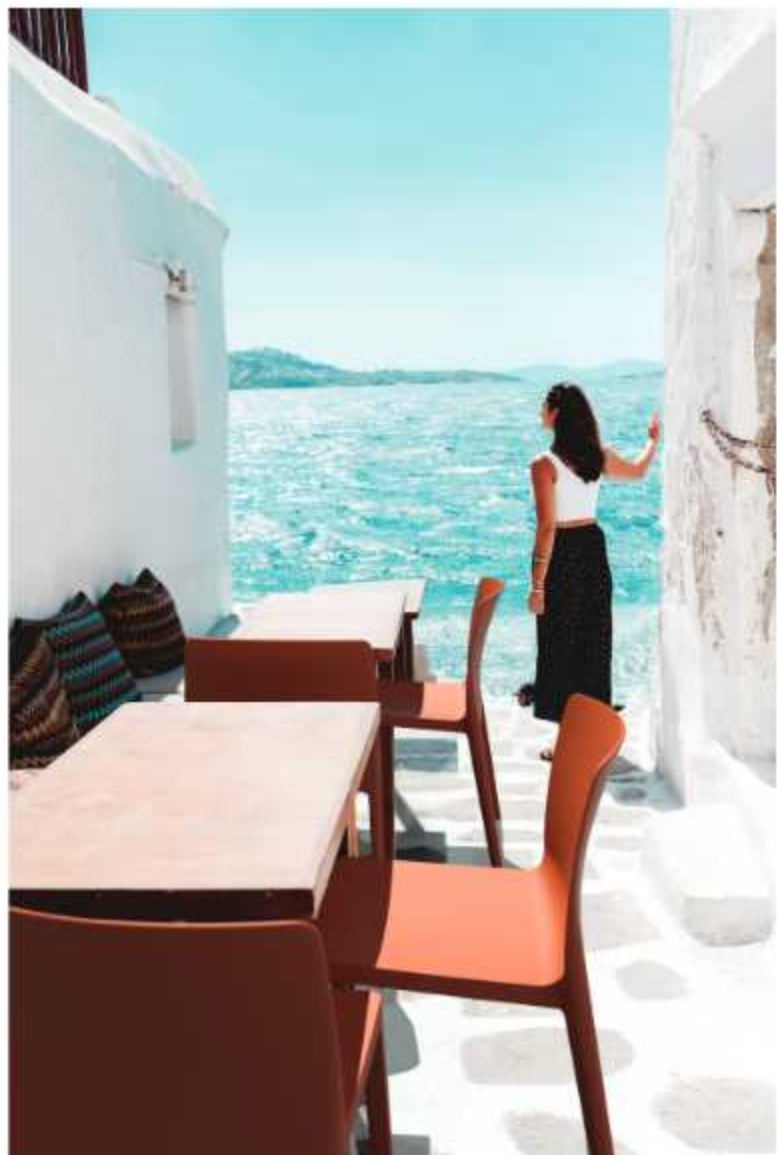

Simon Pengelly, Making things has always been important to me, starting in my father's workshop at an early age and learning from him was the best start to a career in design that I could have asked for. Understanding materials and the making process will always be a fundamental part of my approach. 2006 saw Pengelly's first European collaboration with the OC chair for Italian brand Lapalma and in 2007 his Babar stool, the beginning of his collaboration with Arper with which his Nuur table won a Compasso d'Oro in 2011, the Italian prize that designers covet more than any other.

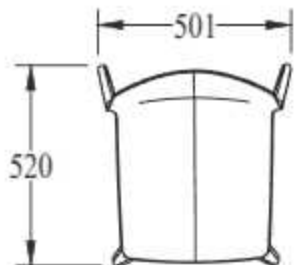

1. Behold the UNIFORM chair, where your gaze will be captivated by the graceful lines and flawless craftsmanship that define its elegance.

2. With clean curves seamlessly blending into any decor or setting, our design embodies simplicity in its purest form, offering an effortlessly chic addition to any space
